SATURDAY MORNING, FEB. 25, 1865.

Thieves, Great and Small.

At the time the Mormon leaders perpetrated the Echo Cañon folly, evidences of which are still visible, a band was organized by direction of Brigham Young, but under the immediate supervision and control of Daniel H. Wells, whose duty it was made to hang around the advancing force under Johnson and harass them continually by stealing the stock necessary in hauling the supply trains.

There are reminiscences connected therewith which go far to discredit the maxim of "honor among thieves," at least in its application here. The organization of such a gang was by no means a matter of difficult accomplishment, as the material necessary was at hand ready prepared. It was simply to withdraw, from their usual avocation of robbing emigrants, the villains who ordinarily haunted the routes of travel, and set them to prey upon and cripple the forces of the United States instead of individuals as was their wont. Men were doubtless selected, whose known familiarity with business of this peculiar nature, rendered their success in the highest degree certain.

The result was all that could have been hoped by the most ardent rebel and arrant horse-thief in the land, even the most righteous prophet himself. It is known that not less than from two to three thousand head of horses, mules and cattle were thus stolen, the latter property of private individuals in Government employ, driven into this valley and turned over to the agents of the "Trustee in Trust."

This stock was herded during the following winter and, in the spring, driven up and sold at public auction in Salt Lake City, the proceeds being turned over to the Church authorities. Those thus sold were used by the people in their movement south, shortly after; more were used by the soi-disant Governor for a purpose not necessary to mention here, and the balance, under an arrangement to that effect, were returned to the officer then commanding at Camp Floyd. It was made to appear by these sanctimonious followers of Christ, that the miserable remnant of their ill-gotten herds, thus returned, were all that remained of the vast number stolen, the rest, as they said, having starved to death during the previous winter.

This whole transaction, perfect in meanness and villainy as it is, shows very clearly the inordinate avarice of these rascally hypocrites, and that, while the Seers' prophetic eye scans the religious horizon it is not without an occasional oblique glance to the profits which descend into his own capacious pockets. Not a dollar of the proceeds, from the sale alluded to above, ever touched the itching palms of those, who did the more dangerous part of the dirty work. True, a few worthless frames, of what had been animals, were generously given to certain of the faithful scoundrels, but all that was worth having, of which Government could be defrauded, went into the coffers of the Man of Tithings or his understrickers.

Yet, how many poor wretches have been slain within the last ten years in Utah, under the specious plea that they were horse-thieves, whose only crime toward their slayers, was, as there is little reason to doubt, that they did not pursue their avocation on behalf of the Church, and become jackals to hunt prey for "Lion of the Lord."

EXPENSIVE PRISON.—The penitentiary building at Joliet, Ill., has cost already $1,000,000, and it is estimated that it cannot be finished without a cool "hundred thousand" be expended.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY VEDETTE.]

Washington, Feb. 22d.

The Navy Department has received the following:

U. S. flag ship Malvern, Cape Fear river, Feb. 19th: I have the honor to report the surrender, or evacuation, of Fort Anderson. Gen. Schofield advanced from Smithville with 8,000 men on the 17th, and at the same time I attacked the works, by placing the monitor Monotak close to the works and enfilading with the Panther, Senador, Armadillo and Peaynot. The wind not allowing more vessels to get under weigh. The fire on the fort was answered pretty briskly, but was quieted down by sunset.

On the 18th at 8 o'clock I moved up closer, the Monotak leading, followed by the Huron, McKean, Sassacus, Pontaturo, Norottingo, Tenfer, Marilla, Pawtucket, Osceola, Shawmut, Seneca, Calicipo and Little Ada, and kept up a heavy fire through the day until late in the afternoon. The enemy's batteries were silenced by 3 o'clock; although we kept up a fire until dark. We also fired through the night, and in the mean time, Schofield was working in rear of the rebels to cut them off. The latter did not wait for the army to surround them, but left in the night, taking five or six pieces of light artillery with them and everything else of value. This morning some of our troops, who were near by, went in and hoisted the flag on the ramparts, when the firing ceased from the monitors. There were ten heavy guns in Fort Anderson and a quantity of ammunition. We lost but three men killed and five wounded.

(Signed.) D. D. PORTER,
Rear Admiral.
Washington, Feb. 22d.

In speaking of the evacuation of Columbia, the Richmond papers of the 20th, says: It is said some of our engraved treasury note paper fell into the hands of the Yankees, also a considerable quantity of medical stores. We have no particulars, except these losses. An official dispatch of the fall of Columbia was communicated to the President and we doubt whether it was ever sent to the War Department, which appears to be in complete ignorance as to what has happened in South Carolina, except from what bits of information that have been picked up on the streets. On Thursday, the day before the enemy occupied the city, ten trains were run from Columbia to Charlotte, and it was supposed that the effects of the Treasury Department were brought off. There has been a report that the plates for engraving Treasury notes fell into the hands of the enemy, but the report is now traced to some negro who escaped from Columbia and reached Kingsville, and told the story to the telegraph operator, who sent it as authentic to Richmond. We understand that Grant shows no disposition to assume the offensive operation, and has withdrawn from the forts this side of Hatcher's Run. The condition of the roads renders the success of any important movement doubtful. The ground is thoroughly thawed and almost impassable for cavalry and artillery, and is exceedingly difficult for the movement of infantry.

Washington, Feb. 22d.

The Navy Department has received information that Lieut. Wm. R. Cushing has constructed a mock monitor so closely resembling the build of those vessels that no difference could be detected at a distance of 100 yards. On Saturday night, the 18th, at about 10 o'clock, the vessel was taken up within about 400 yards of the Fort and sent adrift. As there was a strong flood tide she moved up the river and passed the Fort as if under slow steam. At that time the army had worked about two-thirds of the distance around and in the rear of the Fort. The rebels thinking that their communication was to be cut off by land and water, escaped by the only avenue of escape open to them, leaving their guns unspiked and their magazine uninjured. The public and many private buildings are illuminated to-night, and every main entrance to the State Department has the following: "Peace and good will to all nations, but no entangling alliances, and no foreign intervention."

Headquarters Army Potomac,
February 22d.

In consideration of an early exchange and speedy delivery of all prisoners held in South Carolina, it is deemed expedient to forward after this date, either funds or supplies to any person in that capacity. Such articles or remittances as may have accumulated since the last shipment or may arrive, shall be returned to the shippers.

(Signed) LT.-COL. AND A. G. OF EX

COLORADO.—A large and flourishing town, named Hardyville, has recently sprung into existence at Hardy's Landing, on the Colorado River, where twelve months since, the wild and hungry cayote claimed possession supreme; it cannot now be seen only as a shy and distant prowler.

Mr. Wm. H. Hardy, an industrious enterprising and energetic Californian, having become satisfied with the richness of the country, has located at the above point, and carried with him some 200 tons of merchandise, from the proceeds of which he is deriving a golden reward. There is now a large Store, Hotel, and Warehouse erected at this place, besides numerous dwellings, and everything indicates that a large and flourishing City is the future destiny of Hardyville.

DONATIONS TO OUR INSTITUTES OF LEARNING.—During the last two years, a period of war, and during which time, traitors and the general enemies with whom our country has been and is infested, and even Europe has never failed to predict our National ruin, an astonishing liberality has continuously been shown towards our Institutions of Learning. We give below some of the humane donations:

Middlebury College of Vermont,	$10,000
Williams College, Mass.,	25,000
Harvard College, Cambridge,	44,000
Dartmouth College, N. H.,	47,000
Andover Theological Seminary,	50,000
Washington University, N. Y.,	60,000
Bowdoin College, Maine,	72,000
Chicago Theological Seminary,	80,000
Hamilton College,	10,000
Rutgers College, N. J.,	100,000
Trinity College, Hartford,	100,000
Protestant College, Syria,	103,000
Amherst College, Amherst,	110,000
Princeton College, N. J.,	130,000
Yale College, New Haven, Ct.,	450,000

Total.....$1,441,000

THE EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.—We learn from the Baltimore American that the abolition of slavery in Maryland is being attended with those most promising results which the friends of Emancipation anticipated and predicted. The emigration from the neighboring States is in one steady stream, and particularly from Pennsylvania. "Free labor" has proven a blessing to Maryland's people. Large tracts of land have recently changed hands and gone into the possession of real settlers and escaped the grip of speculators. Farms are selling for good prices, and evidences of the reform are everywhere apparent.

EXPENSIVE MONARCHIAL GOVERNMENT.—The Sandwich Island kingdom costs $574,000 to sustain it per year. This is more than one half more than the government of Californian costs for the same period, and has a population of nine-tenths in excess of that of the Islands above named.

EARLY SEASON.—Almond trees are in full bloom in San Jose, California. Apple, pear and peach trees are thriving beautifully.

OUR RELATIONS WITH SWEDEN.—We learn that the Hon. James H. Campbell, Minister Resident in Sweden and Norway, arrived in Stockholm on the 17th of September. He was most cordially received by the King, and invited to participate in the festivities consequent upon the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales, among the most interesting of which was the excursion to and banquet at the ancient palace of Gups-holm. The royal party left Stockholm at noon, and returned by steamer through the Malar lake at midnight. In this connection we observed that Count Piper, Minister Resident of Sweden and Norway, has been recalled, and Baron Wetterstedt, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary, sent to testify the esteem of these Scandinavian nations, and their confidence in the perpetuity of our institutions. Sweden and Norway were the first to recognize the establishment of our Republic, and again these ancient friends gracefully avail themselves of our period of national adversity to extend to us a distinguished mark of amity. This complimentary action, contrasting as it does with the course of other European powers, will be appreciated by the American people. Congress will doubtless, at an early day, express its recognition of the courtesy and friendship of the Scandinavian people, by elevating the rank of the United States Minister at Stockholm to that of Envoy Extraordinary. This is due to ourselves, as well as to Sweden and Norway; ministers of that grade being established at their court not only from Russia, Prussia, Austria, France and England, but from Denmark, Bavaria and Nassau. The representative of a country, (we had almost said a continent,) like ours should not be inferior in rank to the ministers of these petty powers.

In connection with the above we find the following kind words from Fredrica Bremer:

"I cannot but believe with you, that this war is providential, and, after its worst is done, its woes are past, will serve as a baptism for a new and higher life. A baptism of blood it is true, and terrible it is; but the grace of God will turn the very wounds, to eyes which see His will, to fountains of sympathy and charity. God bless America! My heart is here now more than ever; and were I younger I would be there soul and body, and mix among those who take care of the sick and wounded. But I am old, and shall hardly ever more cross the Atlantic, except with my warm wishes."

The British authorities are somewhat disturbed at the testimony of a witness, who had been engaged as fireman on the rebel pirate Rappahannock. He testified that a Government tug took the ship out of Sheerness harbor.

John Bull has done many a dirty trick during this war that will come to light when Uncle Sam has a convenient opportunity for making enquiry into her acts. In the aggregate, about the value of the British Possessions on this Continent.

KILLED IN A MINE.—The deaths caused by the caving in of shafts and mines have been more numerous for the past six months than during the same length of time in any other season that we know or have heard of. A worthy, industrious citizen, named John H. Gardener, says the Stockton Independent, was killed at Thompson's Flat, Butte county, California, by the bank of a mine falling on him.

ANOTHER TREMENDOUS SNOW SLIDE.—The Mountain Messenger, printed at Downieville, Cal., says that on the 29th of January a party of fourteen men, with nineteen horses, were buried in the snow in Sierra Valley, and that one man, named John Bryant, lost his life thereby. One of the horses was found dead at the depth of two feet.

PRIZE RING.—Mace and Coburn are soon to decide which is the best "knock-to-pieces," for $10,000 a side. These pugilists are going to give their show in Canada.

PARIS.—In 1852, the sum of $45,000,000 was expended on the enlargement and decorations of Paris.

FLOUR is selling at $25 to $28 per sack in Denver City.

GREENBACKS.—So great has the confidence become among the loyal people of the country, that in all the large commercial cities men of wealth are purchasing hundreds of thousands of dollars in greenbacks, and hoarding them as safe and reliable investments.

The great hue and cry about the "gold basis" has ruined more than one individual, and those who were the most bitter in their denunciation of the paper currency of the nation some time since, are now purchasing all the greenbacks that their gold will pay for. A man who possesses $1,000 in gold, and says it bye, it lies there without any signs of increase, while if he exchanges it for greenbacks it will double itself. The fears expressed by the weak minded about greenbacks have recently been quashed by the gradual rise in the currency, and nobody at this day seems afraid to both purchase and hold them, unless, indeed, it may be some of the Mormon prophets, who, previous to the arrival of Gen. Connor's command in Utah, knew no currency aside from carrots and wheat, as a circulating medium. Yet some of these demagogues have the base effrontery to cry for a gold basis at the same time, never for a moment contemplating what disastrous blow the establishment of said basis would be sure to visit upon the commercial interests.

EMIGRATION TO GWINDOM.—There are at the present time a large number of families in the city of San Francisco awaiting an opportunity of shipping for Gwin's new dominions. Wonder if the late order of General McDowell won't possibly deter them in their haste to emigrate to the new Secessia.

STOCK IN CALIFORNIA.—It is stated in the western papers that one-third of the sheep, and one half of the cattle owned in the beginning of 1864, have perished through starvation and cold weather. The pastures, now, however, are sufficiently advanced to sustain the loose flocks and herds.

ELEVEN CHILDREN IN FOUR YEARS.—The Cairo Democrat says there is a woman in that city only twenty one years of age and is the mother of eleven children.

In Utah, Brigham boasts in being the father of more children than he can count, and "eleven wives" would be no where in his way of thinking.

WELL DONE! JONATHAN.—A green good natured money-making up-country Jonathan who said everything dryly, got things fixed, and struck up a bargain for matrimony; and the parties agreed to employ a country justice to perform the ceremony. The worthy Squire commenced by remarking that it was customary on such occasions to begin with a prayer, but he believed he would omit that. After the knot, he said, it was customary to give the couple some advice, but he believed he would omit that, also; it was customary to kiss the bride, but he would omit that. The ceremony being ended, Jonathan taking the Squire by the button-hole, said, "Squire, it's customary to give the magistrate five dollars—but I believe I'll omit that."

MASON AND HENRY.—These notorious murderers and highwaymen, says the Monterey Gazette, are again occupying public attention. Some days since, the sheep camp of Squire Harnenhouse, near the Penoche mines, was burned to the ground. Harnenhouse is one of the parties whom Mason has sworn to kill before he leaves for the Confederacy, but failing to find his man, he has taken revenge on his house.

Local Matters.

A CARD.

HEREBY respectfully inform the public of this City and Territory, that I entirely repudiate the sentiments expressed in the article headed "Brigham's Power," and published in The Union Vedette, Camp Douglas, on Monday last.

The article was written and published without my inspiration or knowledge, and I disclaim having uttered any such sentiments. On the contrary, since my arrival in Salt Lake City I have been treated as civilly and courteously as in any place I have ever visited, with the exception of the imputations cast upon me by the article in question.

My conversation with the editor of the Daily Telegraph was of a very different character to that represented in the Vedette. His advice was reasonable, and courteous only given.

Instead of extortion by President Young, no price was named by his agent for any public room, but I was kindly received and assistance was rendered me in seeking an immediately available hall.

I take this method of disabusing the public mind, as the promised apology has not appeared in the Vedette.

MARTIN, The Wizard.

On or about the 19th of February, '65, Mr. Martin, the Wizard, in my presence and hearing in the Sub. Storehouse in G. S. L. City, used language to the following effect, viz: That he had been talking to Mr. Stenhouse, the editor of the "Daily Telegraph," and in their conversation, alluded to the very fine notice he (Stenhouse) had given him in his paper. Stenhouse said he could not give him a notice unless he played in one of two places, viz: the Theater, or Social Hall, and furthermore, I have heard Mr. Martin repeat that same conversation on one other time.

JOHN SHEA.

I was present on the occasion above referred to and heard the conversation which took place - which was as represented above. The impression left by Mr. Martin's remarks, were, that the Daily Telegraph was under the control of Brigham Young, and that Mr. Stenhouse could not favorably notice his performances, except as paid notice.

J. A. THOMSON.

Mr. Martin has made statements of a similar character as above, to me in person - and the impression created was that he considered the columns of the Telegraph controlled by Brigham Young.

L. A. BILLINGS.

To JOHN HUNTER.—If this notice should be read by Mr. Jno. Hunter, at Virginia City, Montana, he will by writing, greatly relieve the mind of his anxious wife, residing at Camp Douglas, who has written five different letters to him of late, neither of which has apparently been received by him. We have, at the request of Mr. Hunter, made the above notice, hoping that her husband will thereby be relieved of the painful anxiety expressed in his letter of a late date. She has written the above five letters, to her husband, but through some cause they have each and all failed of arriving at their destination.

The third time who lately entered the cellar of the U. S. Subsistence Storehouse, in S. L. City, has been "nipped."

This fellow goes by the name of Louis Danzansen. He was apprehended at Union Fort. The prisoners have been held in the sum of $1,000 each, to appear at the Probate Court.

Snow is again falling as we go to press.

The Emperor of Russia has issued a ukase extending the abolition of serfdom to Transcaucasia, the only province of the Russian Empire where that institution still exists.

We have been accustomed to look upon Russia as a half civilized nation, because she recognized a system of slavery, and recognized England and France as the type of a superior civilization, simply because they ignored the peculiar institution. What a change the last four years have effected. To-day Russia and America are the champions of freedom, whilst England and France are the main stay of slavery.

QUARTZ MILLS.—The Mercantile Gazette estimates the number of quartz mills in California at six hundred, and that they have cost $12,000,000 to erect them. The Gazette further adds that, allowing ten stamps to each mill and that each stamp crushes one ton of rock, daily, the sum of $18,000,000 is realized annually therefrom.

A STRICKEN MOTHER.—We think our readers will find in the following something touching, exhibiting, as it does, all the deep intensity of a mother's love.—There is a grandeur in the conduct of this poor lone mother, whose love has made her mad, who yearns for one her poor faded eyes will never see again. More than a year ago her son, a member of a Connecticut regiment, was taken prisoner and confined at Andersonville. A short time afterward several were exchanged. His mother in Connecticut, hearing of it, and believing that he was among the number, left her desolate home and came to Camp Parole, which is situated two miles from Annapolis, to seek her treasure among the boat-loads landed on the Severn. She waited, wearily waited, day by day, for the coming of her boy; but, though many came, he was not among them. "Hope deferred maketh the heart sick," and so it was with her. Broken-hearted by constantly recurring disappointments, her mind, already shaken by grief, at last gave away. Ever since, more than six months, she has been stopping in this city—how, or where, I know not.

During all this time she comes to the office of Doctor Vanderkief, the surgeon in charge, to ascertain whether any boat-loads of released prisoners have arrived. When the last detachment came in, she seemed overjoyed, and went from skeleton to skeleton, scanning them eagerly and anxiously. But her son was not here, and each day she went eagerly back to her home. The good hearted surgeon, although he knew, and told her many times, that her son has been officially reported as dead, still answers her every day the same monotonous "No." She comes provided with a shirt and a pair of drawers, pantaloons, boots, and a cap, and when informed that her son has not yet arrived, goes down the gravelled path across the lawn to the very end of the long wharf. There she stands looking over the broad water of the Chesapeake for fully an hour. Clad ever in the same neat dress and closely fitting bonnet, she gazes wistfully, longingly, out over the blue waste, as if her very eagerness would hasten on the bark she imagines bears back to her child. But her tear-swollen eyes at last grow dim, her strength fails, and with the empty void aching in her breast, O! how agonizingly she turns to depart.—That son she shall meet, poor, crazed, broken-hearted mother, never, never, this side the hither shore!

THE Circuit Court of Macoupin county, Ill., had before it on trial Major-General John M. Palmer, on a charge of violating the laws of Illinois by bringing a negro into it. It seems that the negro went there and afterward enlisted in the army as a substitute, for eight hundred dollars, which he invested in United State bonds. The General was acquitted.

"When a superior race like ours," said one of the chivalry to a modest looking Federal soldier, "comes in contact with an inferior race like negroes, what do you think will be the result?" "Mulattoes," was the ready answer of the Yank.
